

6. How to Confirm Defectives

To complete this step, the user can navigate to the stock tab and select the 'Confirm Defectives' option.

Only the defective yard manager possesses the authority to declare a product as defective. When a product is initially reported as suspected defective, it requires confirmation from the defective yard manager to officially deem it as defective. Once the defective yard manager declares the product as defective, its status will be updated accordingly, reflecting its defective state within the system.

The defective yard manager can also reclassify a suspected defective cylinder as non-defective. This action will revert the cylinder(s) to their previous state, resulting in their inclusion within the full in-stock inventory levels.
